

Partridge Snow & Hahn LLP is pleased to announce the relocation of its Providence Office

September 3, 2013 – Partridge Snow & Hahn LLP, the Providence-based business law and litigation firm, announced today that it has relocated to three floors of the Textron Building at 40 Westminster Street. Managing Partner David Gilden said, “We outgrew our headquarters and have expanded into a much larger space downtown. Our clients will find our new, energy-efficient office to be comfortable and easily accessible.” Gilden noted that to further benefit clients, the Firm’s offices have been designed to enable and encourage more collaboration among attorneys and staff. The Firm also upgraded its technology capabilities in order to facilitate communications with clients. Gilden added, “With our roots in the Providence area, we are pleased to affirm our commitment to Rhode Island and continue to provide legal counsel that best serves the needs of the business and nonprofit communities in the region.”

The Firm’s telephone and web site contact information remain the same. We may be reached by telephone at 401-861-8200 or through our website, www.psh.com.
